

Abstract

Historical Note

Dione, Nursing Care among the Olympians

Gregory Ioannis Tsoucalas, PhD

History of Medicine, Faculty of Medicine, University of Thessaly, Larissa, Greece

Despina Sapountzi-Krepia, PhD

Professor, Nursing Department, Frederick University, Nicosia, Cyprus

Markos Nikolaos Sgantzos, MD, PhD

Assistant Professor, Department of Anatomy, Faculty of Medicine, University of Thessaly, Larissa, Greece

Correspondence: Gregory Tsoucalas, Ierolohiton 155, Agioi Anargyroi, Volos, Greece, P.C. 38334. E-mail: gregorytsoucalas@yahoo.gr

Abstract

All divine ancient Greek gods of the higher class, both celestial and chthonic, even though they had been considered as immortals, according to the writers of the era, they had "human" weaknesses. Thus, they were in a constant need for medical care when they were wounded. Dione was placed among the Titanides, the daughter of Oceanus and Tethys she was an experienced therapist. When Aphrodite was wounded she tried to heal her and she treated Pluto when he was wounded by Hercules. She cured Aris when he was wounded by the ancient Greek hero Diomedes, by administering the herb "paeonia"

Key Words: Dione, Olympian Gods, nursing care